HEADSHOT

ABOUT SANDRA

Sandra L. Jean, Esq

Sandra has a wealth of knowledge in legal compliance, organizational development, and best practices within the Human Resources arena. She is very personable and likable which is well received by front line associates, while her tact and professionalism carry her too much success working with management teams and company executives. Her expertise and wiliness to build teams and consensus for engagement continue to make her a success in the business world.

HR Business Partner II

I would recommend Sandra because she is a rare person who brings such an extensive knowledge of employment and labor law, but is also able to connect with employees on all levels of an organization. Sandra is the type of H.R. professional that builds trust with employees and becomes the "go- to" person for management when dealing with employee and labor issues. I truly enjoyed working with Sandra for two years and I still reach out to her for advice regarding difficult employment matters. Sandra would be an asset for any organization that is looking for a highly skilled human resources professional.
